

NATIONALISM IN ASIA DETERS THE WEST'S COMMERCE

Russia's Strategic Stock In Far East Boosted By Revolutions

MUSHROOM TYPE Revolts Virtually Sever East-West Trade Relations

By Howard Handelman Far Eastern Director, INS

TOYKO, Nov. 15 — INS — Soviet Russia's strategic and economic stock in the Far East has been given a sharp boost by the nationalist revolutions which have mushroomed throughout Asia since the end of the war.

The chain of revolts on the world's largest continent has virtually severed trade relations between the orient and the western nations and given Moscow a vast bufferland against its potential enemies.

The Soviets, who long have coveted an Asiatic bufferland for their eastern borders, have gained that objective through allegiance with the Chinese Communists.

India also may give Moscow a major victory in the east-west cold war if Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru is able to achieve his goal of neutrality in the east-west dispute.

Of more importance, perhaps, in this age of air power and economic warfare, are the blows against the wealth of the west that have been made through the many native revolts since world war two.

The severance of trade between the Orient and Britain, France and the Netherlands has dealt a body blow to the economy of the western nations.

Not only has their market to the Asiatic nations been cut off but the vital raw materials produced in Southeast Asia also have been severed.

The United States, too, has suffered economically. In addition to losing vast markets, the United States has made staggering outlays in direct financial aid to keep the Asiatic nations from going the communist way.

Moscow has frequently been charged with fomenting the uprisings, and although no evidence has been produced that it engaged in

COUNCIL TAKES STEPS TO GET STATE SPONSORED HOUSING DEVELOPMENT HERE; PLAN TO CONDUCT AN "H-DAY" NOV. 30

Bristol Borough Council, last night, authorized the secretary to write a "letter of attitude," another step to bring to this area a state-sponsored housing program. The state to pay $72,000 representing 35 per cent of the cost and a private contractor putting up the other 65 per cent to be amortized over a period of 28 years, after which it will become the owner. The state's grant is to be part of a $15,000,000 program to relieve housing scarcity in the state.

John Smoyer, 3rd, sixth ward councilman, told council of a meeting held Sunday with representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, veterans groups and others interested. The project must be built either in Bristol or within one mile of the borough's utilities. A letter of "interest" was written August 13th by council. Mr. Smoyer stated that the Bristol Chamber of Commerce had agreed to make up all forms.

I. J. Hetherington said that plans are afoot to hold an "H-Day" in Bristol on November 30th. Forms will be distributed to manufacturing industries and veterans groups. Jacob C. Schmidt, Jr., has agreed to act as chairman of the veterans groups of the community. Veterans will be given preference but others may also file the required forms.

Mr. Smoyer said that the houses will be for those with incomes of from $2500 to $4500, and that the rentals will be $45 to $65 per month. There will be no obligation on the part of the borough and the project is not to be tax-free.

Council authorized the letter to be directed to the State Planning Board.

Report Presented by Fourth Ward Councilman J. W. Egan

SIGNED BY COMMITTEE

Duties of The Borough Treasurer Are To Be Simplified

The concluding paragraph of a report handed into Borough Council, last night, by the Job Analysis Committee, caused considerable parliamentary sparring. It resulted in the report being laid on the table for a month, so that members of council can give the entire report careful study before being called upon to vote upon it.

The paragraph which aroused councilmen to their feet was this paragraph: "In closing, it is suggested that a committee be appointed immediately to advertise for, and interview applicants for the positions of secretary and treasurer and make its recommendation to council at the December meeting."

The report was presented by J. W. Egan, fourth ward councilman, and the report was signed by the members of the committee. After the presentation of the report Councilman Byers arose and spoke in terms of praise of the work done by the present borough treasurer, Harold F. Hunter. With this Mr. Egan agreed, as did several others, but Egan said that the borough had too many "part-time employees." His motion for the adoption of the last paragraph was seconded by I. J. Hetherington, first ward. L. C. Spring asked if it is not necessary to first create the jobs before advertising for applicants. Egan did not think so. Councilman Riley raised the question that the report had not been adopted and therefore the last paragraph should not be acted upon.

Councilman Winters was the first to ask that action be postponed until the report could be given study. Councilman Byers asked that the report be laid over for a month and Winters seconded it.

Hetherington said that he believed that the report did need explanation. He then told of the borough engineer being called upon to act now as borough administrator and numerous other duties. A full-time

GIVING AWAY FOOD

Former Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's proposal to give away America's agricultural surpluses to needy foreigners is a reminder to Americans that the old boy is still alive, and that he hasn't changed. He always was good at giving away taxpayers' money.

The government no doubt would have given the mountains of "surplus" food anyway, but Morgy couldn't pass up an opportunity to appear in his classic role.
Storage and carrying charges on the farm crops the government has bought run approximately a million dollars every four days.

The mere presence of these huge stores (190,000,000 bushels of wheat, 200,000,000 pounds of dried milk, 500,000,000 pounds of beans, etc., etc.) creates a vicious circle: It increases the fear among farmers of a price collapse, which leads them to demand continuation of high price supports, which in turn increases the stocks in government warehouses.

The ultimate solution, as everyone realizes, is to reduce price supports to the point where they still protect the farmer against disaster, while not maintaining artificial price levels so high as to create incentives for production of huge surpluses.
This is what the Eighty-first Congress did. The Eighty-first cancelled its action.

Morgenthau's latest plan is not the way to solve the problem of worldwide hunger. His proposal is of dubious merit. America's surplus, so huge that warehouses can not be found to house them, are small beside the hunger and the indolence in the world. If the government gave them away, they would vanish over night and another precedent would have been set.

The United States certainly is not rich enough in resources to feed the world by charity. The only help of lasting value is helping people produce enough to feed themselves by their own efforts.

A LETTER HOME

How long has it been since you wrote a letter home? This question is directed at those who still have living parents, residing at a distance, and whom they see infrequently.

Although away from the parental roof, they should not forget they are still very much members of the family. What they are doing, how life is treating them, is still of vital concern to mother and dad, whose love and interest will follow them forever.

There is much that can be put in a letter that will be of interest.
If there are grandchildren, each can be written about. A recent picture, enclosed with the letter will add interest. In millions of American homes the most cherished possessions are letters from the children, which are read and reread.

Not more than 10 or 15 minutes are required to write a letter.
Nothing could be of greater interest to the folks at home.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Another "Mandate"?

Washington, Nov. 15
IT was inevitable that the New York victory of Governor Lehman should be construed as a great popular endorsement of Mr. Truman's whole bewildering domestic program. The President not only pitched into the fight personally with all he had, but through members of his Cabinet and political aides used every ounce of Administration weight. Naturally, he was pleased and had the right to say so.

NEVERTHELESS, it does seem that he did considerable more floating than the situation called for, and his excessive cockiness, as displayed on election night before the Women's Democratic Club in Washington, did not endear him to quite all who saw, heard or read.
As a matter of fact, while a certain amount of chortling, cackling and crowing was to be expected, Mr.
Truman appeared somewhat to overdo it. Nor was his reference to the defeated Mr. Dulles as "that fellow" exactly the way one expects a victor—particularly a President—to speak of a vanquished opponent, however hard he fought. But those are unimportant points, matters of good taste and good feeling have no bearing on the result or its significance.

MORE timely it is to discuss what may be expected of Mr. Lehman in the Senate, to what the Democrats really owe their triumph and what is its true significance. Take, first, Mr. Lehman. Spurred on by his White House and labor support, he accepted as a whole (having only the already doomed Brannan farm plan and hedging a little on socialized medicine) all the "Welfare State" theories and the "Fair Deal" formulas. Now, before he is sworn in, he stands so deeply committed to the President's policies that he has exceedingly little room for independent thought or action. He seems to have tied himself up so tightly that his only alternative to the role of a rubber stamp is to become a traitor to Mr. Truman and a violator of his campaign promises.

WHEN one considers that some of the things he will be called upon to support are sure to do violence to his convictions and clash with his common sense, Mr. Lehman's position is hardly a happy one. Riding on what Mr. Stassen calls "Truman's gravy train" isn't natural for him. Yet that is exactly what he is scheduled to do. Nor, except by those soft-headed enough really to believe in the Utopian pictures Mr.
Truman paints of a life of ease and leisure for all men everywhere, can his election be regarded as promoting the national interests. It does, of course, strengthen the left-wing elements now ascendant in the Democratic party and it buttresses the type of economic adviser, such as Mr. Leon Keyserling, who has been consistently edging Mr. Truman farther away from orthodox financial doctrine. Also, it does encourage the President's political strategists to believe in the continuing effectiveness of the combination of special interest voters they have formed.

TAKE next the national significance of the result. Already Administration propagandists are beating the drums to promulgate the idea that the "people" have expressed themselves overwhelmingly in favor of the "Fair Deal" and the "Welfare State." This is no easier to sustain than the contention that Mr. Truman's narrow victory in 1948 was a "mandate" from the American people to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act and to enact the so-called civil-rights program, forced on the convention against Mr.

Truman's desire by such garrulous "bleeding heart" statesmen as Senator Humphreys, of Minnesota.
Though Mr. Truman and his labor allies still talk about that "mandate," no one else took it seriously and the Democratic Congress elected with him, ignoring the "mandate," threw the bulk of the Truman program into the discard.

IN this case the election figures and facts make the "mandate" claim even more absurd. Mr. Lehman's majority in a total vote of 5,000,000 was less than 200,000. Mr.
Rogers Dunn, of the Dunn Survey, of Greenwich, Conn., contends that Mr. Lehman was not endorsed by the voters but owes his election entirely to what he calls the pay-roll vote. In New York there are 178,- 000 Federal jobholders, averaging with their relatives four votes each, which means that approximately 700,000 votes were thus delivered to Mr. Lehman. Clearly, this isn't a vote swayed by issues or argument and, clearly, without it he could not have won.

THIS argument can measurably be answered by the fact that there are almost an equal number of State jobholders in New York, that these are mostly Republicans and mostly cast their votes for Mr. Dulles. Mr.
Dunn rejects that as an adequate answer. He that it may, no such answer can be given to the fact that the Communist-controlled American Labor Party, putting forth no candidate of its own, cast approximately 500,000 votes for Mr. Lehman. There is no answer to that and, apparently, no contradiction either of the fact or the figures.
Also, it is not denied that, though he is no Communist, the most violent journalistic Lehman support came from the Communist organs.
If these facts are not denied—and they are not—then they must be accepted. If they are accepted, then the contention that Mr. Lehman's 200,000 majority constitutes either a genuine endorsement of the voters of New York or of a "mandate" from the people becomes ridiculous.
However, that will not deter Administration journalistic and political spokesmen from insisting that it does.

FLEETWING ESTATES

There will be no more meetings of Fleetwing Estates Boys' Club until further notice, because the leader, Paul Nicholas, will be prevented by his work from conducting the meetings.
Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Fagans and son "Donny" were guests of Mr. Walter Cubberty, Princeton, N. J., recently.
John Paul Todd, whose Naval training recently included a cruise in the neighborhood of Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, arrived home last weekend from Norfolk, Va. He has been selected to attend Damage Control School, and will be stationed in this area during the training.
Walter Albertson, a former resident here, visited Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Harrison recently. He gave them the news that Mrs. Albertson has been visiting friends and relatives in England, and he will join her early in December. The two plan to return to the States together before Christmas.

Emotional Instability Will Hamper the Child in School

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

I WISH I could persuade teachers and parents to quit saying of a child who lags at school, "He could do it if he would try." How can we expect any child to keep on trying when faced with constant failures many times a day, day in and day out? He must enjoy some feeling of success in order to strive nearly as hard as he is expected to strive.
No teacher should report to the parents that a child does not try to learn at school without ascertaining what his learning difficulties are.
She may need the help of the school psychologist but if she will take the trouble she can find out herself much about what the particular difficulties are.

If he lags in arithmetic, does he know by heart the addition, subtraction or multiplication combination-facts he needs to use? Does he have trouble in carrying? If he lags in long division, is he familiar with all the steps in the process? When faced with verbal problems, does he read the problem carefully to know what it means before setting out to solve it? Does he read well? Does he read for meaning and not just to pronounce words? Does he confuse some letters of the alphabet? Maybe he doesn't see clearly or hear distinctly?

Feels Jittery

Maybe he is all jumpy and jittery and rarely is still long enough to concentrate well? He may have great fears of being scolded or laughed at when he utters a mistake? Maybe the words he has to spell in school, the lessons he has to read, or the number work he has to do are all too hard for him. (These matters I discuss in my home-help bulletins in reading, arithmetic and spelling, to be had for postage.)

Of her son 9½ years old the mother writes: "He is a wonderful little boy around the home. Always scrubs out the sink when it needs it.

School Functions

"We have done everything to spur him on at school. I go to all the school functions, am a P.T.A. officer, and try to help him every night with homework. I drill him every night on his weekly spelling test and he gets grades of 90 to 100 but when the six weeks review test comes he fails miserably. I drill him on his multiplication facts and he knows them but when he has a test in them with such problems as 937 multiplied by 7 he again fails miserably. Last year he had a habit of licking his lips till they were sore.
This stopped in the summer but he is at it again. I am nervous and high strung. Many times I raise my voice and am sorry afterwards."

In about this fashion I wrote her.
It's easy to see that you try hard with this willing lad but that both of you are hindered with hampering emotions. In the first place you should try to get more rest and recreation—just let a lot of things go —so you can be more serene. Seek your physician's help in building up this lad physically, making sure he has ample outdoor fun. When you help him with his lessons be sure you and he are relaxed. Leave him alone the moment you feel tense.

Perhaps it would be better to have a gentle, patient teacher spend half an hour with him at her home or yours a few days each week.
In the meanwhile help him to see that it is not so terrible to get low grades at school. Praise him for the way he tries at his lessons and for all his fine citizenship at home. I am enclosing some bulletins—"Parents and The Child's Home Work," "The Nervous Child," and "The Nervous Mother," (which anybody else may have in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper).

Neighbors, Friends Honor S. J. Illick

appreciation for being a good neighbor to all."

Mr. Illick, a few weeks ago took up residence in a new Methodist Church home at Cornwall, Lebanon county. He had some years ago served for several terms as Burgess of Hulmeville borough. He was, until October, a member of Hulme-ville borough council, serving in the capacity of president of that body. His active interest in the Hulmeville - Middletown Parent-Teacher Association covered many years; and on his shoulders each year, with his committee members, fell the duties of outlining the local Memorial day program. He had been a teacher in the Methodist Sunday School, having a class of young men; and was lay leader of the church.

The program by guest artists was announced by the Rev. John C.
Kulp, pastor of Neshaminy Church.
He called upon the Rev. Arthur Laellein, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, for the invocation; and others who represented civic and church groups. George Fetters, of Pennell, who has succeeded Mr. Illick as charge lay leader, spoke of the "large share Mr. Illick has had in this church," adding "He deserves everything that is good and right for an honorable Christian man. He and his family will know that the church and community appreciate what he has done. . . I'm sure we have had a bulwark of a "stepping stone" here."

Burgess Leon R. Conly, representing the borough, bespoke the "gratitude of the residents for what Mr. Illick has done for us all in the past. We wish him joy in his new home."
There was presented to the guest of honor on behalf of members of his Sunday School class an autograph album. Presentation was made by Donald LeC. Haefner. The album contains greetings, tributes and autographs of scores of friends.
The Hulmeville-Middletown Parent-Teacher Association was represented by Miss Elma E. Haefner.
She mentioned the P. T. A.'s pride in having as a member "one of the few people in the community who served as an active member of P.T.A., regardless of the fact that no individual in his immediate family is attending school here. His interest springs from a sincere desire to help mould the lives of the children of his friends and neighbors." It was mentioned that Mr. Illick, in spite of the fact he had resigned as a councilman a month previous, and was not eligible for re-election inasmuch as he is no longer a resident here, received votes of 211 of his townspeople in the election last week.

A purse was presented the guest on behalf of his friends. The sum contained therein had increased by the time the program concluded to $138.

The musical portion of the program delighted all, and the audience showed its pleasure in applause and favorable comments at the conclusion. The guest artists were Luigi Boccelli, tenor, known across the nation as "the blind Caruso"; his son, Richard Boccelli; pianist, Rocco Stanco; the Harmony Trum-peters quartet; and Miss Marian Voorhees, member of the youth choir of the hostess church.

The program by the musicians follows in part: "Great is Thy Faithfulness," trumpeters; piano solo, "Fantasy Impromptu" (Chopin), Mr.
Stanco; vocal selection, "Every Day is Ladies' Day with Me," Richard Boccelli; "Ave Maria," (Schubert) and "Madrugada," Luigi Boccelli; vocal numbers, "Because" and "Indian Love Call," Miss Voorhees; duet, "My Hero" from "The Chocolate Soldier," Miss Voorhees and Richard Boccelli; "Roses of Picardy," Luigi Boccelli; "One Alone" from "The Desert Song," the Messrs. Boccelli; "Send Out Thy Light," trumpeters; "Song of Scherezade," "I Got Plenty of Nuttin'" and "This is a Great, Big Wide Wonderful World," Richard Boccelli; piano solo, excerpts from "Rhapsody in Blue" (Gershwin), Mr. Stanco; "I Love Life," Luigi Boccelli; medley of George M. Cohan numbers, "Hallelujah," "O What a Beautiful Morning" and "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," Messrs.
Boccelli; "The Triumph Day," trum-peters.

Mr. Illick, in his response to the tributes, spoke of the task of the Christian Church "in bringing the world out of its trouble." Replying to mention made by several of his work for the good of the community he asked "What is life worth if you don't try to help folks to better living?" In conclusion he read two verses of the hymn, "Jesus is All the World to Me" which Miss Voorhees then sang. Her accompanist for this number was Miss Clara L.
Illick.

During the evening the Rev. Mr.
Kulp read a telegram of good wishes to the honored one, sent by residents of the Methodist home at Cornwall.

The chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair was C. Wesley Haefner.

NASH IS FIRST AGAIN - IN POWER!

Nash engineers have done it again! Now —for the first time—you can have all the thrill of super-compression power on regular gasoline!

You'd expect the company that's been ahead in the power parade for a third of a century to stay ahead—but wait 'til you drive a 1950 Nash Airflyte.

Take out a new Nash Ambassador. Its Turbo-head engine has a 7.3 to 1 ratio.
Fill it up with "regular"—then tackle the worst hill you know—take the challenge of any other car at the traffic light.

And let the throttle tell the story!

Check your gas mileage for another surprise. No other car of Nash Ambassador size can come anywhere close to it in miles to the gallon.

And the Nash Statesman, with its high-compression engine, is equally outstanding in its class—with over 25 miles to the gallon at average highway speed.

What has Nash got the others haven't?
Exclusive sealed-in manifolds, for one thing. They utilize the leanest of mixtures. Uniflo-Jet Carburetion, for another. It means smoother performance.

20.7% Less Air Drag

Then, these great engines get another boost from America's best aerodynamic design—for Airflyte design has 20.7% less air drag than the average of nine other current cars tested.

And Nash alone has Airflyte Construction that is stronger, safer, without useless weight.

New-Hydra-Matic Drive

For the best test of all, see your Nash dealer and get the thrill yourself of Airflyte high-compression power. Try it in the Nash Ambassador with Hydra-Matic Drive (optional extra) and exclusive Selecto-Lift Starting.

And let the throttle tell the story!

New Lower Prices—$73 to $140 less than last year!

See the new and finer 1950 Nash Airflytes, with Super-Compression Power, Skyliner Lounge Interiors, and dozens of other new features, all priced far less than last year. Compare value—compare prices—you'll agree they are the best buy today.

THE PLEDGE

 Nor brandy red that turns the

 So here we pledge perpetual hat boys all thought and often stated he was "one of the best chaplains St. Francis has had". They add that in the years he has been with them (since 1946) he found a way into the hearts of all, and "no one was afraid to speak to him when in need of spiritual assistance."

One of the familiar sights around the school was Father Weigand with his dog "Jet" a little piece of mid-western life and always ready to scamper about in leaps and bounds.

The Rev. Fr. Weigand is succeeded by the Rev. Fr. Woffler, C.S.S.P., who was chaplain at St. Francis some years ago.

Each month, on the first Friday, St. Francis School, published an honor roll. Those inscribed attend a special "movie" which is shown for their benefit. They also make trips to Philadelphia or other nearby places to see football games or other events. This month they made a visit to Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, and expect to see a radio show on WCAU and attend West Catholic High School's (Philadelphia) play. They may also be fortunate enough to see Villanova or the Eagles play one of their games.

tional meeting of parents and teachers in the near future.

Another event of the week was a "doggie" roast held on the school grounds Wednesday evening by the H-Y and the Tri-Hi-Y societies of the junior high school. American Education Week was bowed out on Friday evening by a seventh and eighth grade dance. Such dances are now a tradition in Bristol township for one is held for the two lower classes, seventh and eighth grades, and one for the two upper classes, the ninth and tenth grades.

each month. The furniture is moved from the library, which is 22 feet by 55 feet, and dancing is to recordings.

An intermarial soccer program was inaugurated last week. Boys from one section play those of another section after school and on Saturdays. Last Saturday morning at ten o'clock the boys from section 9-1 played section 9-5 under supervision of Coach Dick, athletic director, and William Scherack, a tenth grade student. 9-5 won this hotly contested game, 3 to 2.

R. R. Brown, of a Philadelphia bottling company, attended a joint meeting of elementary (5th & 6th) and junior high teachers of the social studies department on Nov. 8th. He presented free educational materials which will aid in the widening of the social studies program. Also present were Walter D. Miller, supervising principal; Henry Decker, assistant principal; and Mrs. Dorothy McCollom, elementary supervisor.

Miss M. Hoffman, reading representative of the Macmillan Book Co., will present a reading demonstration to several elementary groups on November 16th.

On November 9th, students of 5th, 6th, 7th, and 8th grades met with Albert Knecht, Chapter of the Bandmasters' Association. The meeting was arranged to explain to the students, the dream of many years, the beginning of an instrumental program in Bristol township schools. Instrumental instruction will be given by Robert Miller, music supervisor of the junior high school.

Interested parents are invited to attend a meeting with Mr. Knecht at the junior high library, Nov. 16th. Questions will be answered by Mr. Knecht concerning this new program. An overwhelming response was given to the program by the students.

The elementary township schools held various programs in observance of American Education Week.

Educational films were viewed in some schools, to acquaint parents with the visual educational program carried on by the schools this year. Many results of the activities directed in the classrooms were observed. The reactions of the parents were said to be most favorable.

ANKER UPHOLSTERY CO.
OTTER & LOCUST STS.MAKE GOOD USE OF 2ND FLOOR HALLWAY;
NOT AS 'CATCH-ALL'By Miss Frances Vannoy Home Economics Extension Rep.

One space too often overlooked in houses today is the second floor hall. Where the stairway starts straight up, there are unlimited possibilities for using this space.

The upper hall often has a window and the space may be made into a cozy nook for reading, writing, sewing, or a hobby, but avoid using this space for a catchall. A younger member of the family may wish to do the hall space for a school project.

Try to make the hall as attractive and convenient as other parts of the house. If space permits, a bookcase may be painted to match the woodwork. There should be a desk, wastebasket, and a comfortable chair for reading or desk work. There must be adequate light in this center.

Eternal God, unto whom all things are visible and from whom nothing is hidden, grant us a feeling of mutual brotherhood to men of all races and creeds, that we may not be held accountable for so great a sin as prejudice; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

SMUT

A man and his dog I think you'll agree is a very wonderful sight to see. I've always wondered as perhaps you've done.

Which of the two is the more faithful one. Right now I have in mind a dog named Smut.

Who is upper-crust although she's a mutt. But practically lived her three score and ten.

Years according to the age of men. The moment her master comes in the door.

She senses his presence though her sight is no more. And she craves his attention and gets it no less.

Than a siren whom he might be wont to caress.

The man and his dog are like two frisky fawns. Chasing each other across the green lawns.

And though she is old and blind as a bat.

Chest Colds
To relieve coughing spasms, muscular soreness, rub throat, chest and back at bedtime with time-tested VICKS

She knows his step you can be sure of that. And goes hysteric like a silly miss. Till he pets her back into a state of bliss. She's first in the car and loves to sleep. Rolled into a hairy partial heap. If you see these two on their nightly strolls. You will sense at once two congenial souls. It makes no difference whether sad or glad. A dog is the best friend man ever had.

You can be one of those fortunate few, if you mail or bring in the coupon below to the Bristol Courier.

The book shown in the picture—is 7" high by 5" deep by 1½" thick—a beautifully bound Deluxe Edition, fully illustrated, containing 512 double-columned pages—OVER ONE QUARTER OF A MILLION WORDS—more words than in three ordinary books! Yet, you and 199 other subscribers of the Bristol Courier will get a copy free by using the coupon below.

Why do we make you so unusual an offer? Why are we willing to give you an outright gift of a book that is worth at least $3? Here is why. It is good advertising for us to put in your hands an actual volume of the work. We want you to examine it, look it over carefully, actually use it in your own home. We are sure that when you do, you too will be convinced that everything that you have heard about the Funk & Wagnalls Encyclopedia is true—that it is the finest work ever written or sold at any price for American home use.

We know that then you will want to own the other 26 volumes that complete the set. If you decide you want these volumes, you can get them two books at a time at a price far less than you would pay if they were distributed through the usual methods.

HERE IS HOW THE BOOK-A-WEEK PLAN WORKS

You mail or bring in the coupon to the Bristol Courier, together with 10c in coin or stamps. This 10c covers the cost of mailing the first volume to you directly from the publisher's bindery. After you receive the book you have ten days in which to examine it. At the end of that time, if you want no more books, you drop a line to the publisher saying so, and that is all. The book you have already received is yours to keep. There is no further obligation to buy any more books or pay anything. However, if you decide you want the rest of the 26 volumes, you do nothing at all. Volumes 2 and 3 will automatically go forward to you in two weeks, and every two weeks thereafter you will receive two more volumes until your set is complete. You send no money in advance for the other books of the set. In each package you will find a bill for the volumes shipped to you, which you pay in five days after delivery—and here is the real surprise! You pay only the amazingly low price of $1.49 per volume, plus mailing charge for the Deluxe Edition.

LIBRARY EDITION — IF YOU PREFER

You have one more privilege—a choice between the Deluxe and the Library Edition of the encyclopedia.

The Deluxe Edition is bound in dark blue, leather-grained cloth, stamped in red and gilt, as illustrated here, with head and tail-bands, and harmoniously colored page-tops. Endpapers and frontispieces are color reproductions of woodcuts by Hans Alexander Mueller, renowned artist in that medium, the frontispieces being a set of woodcut portraits of American presidents.

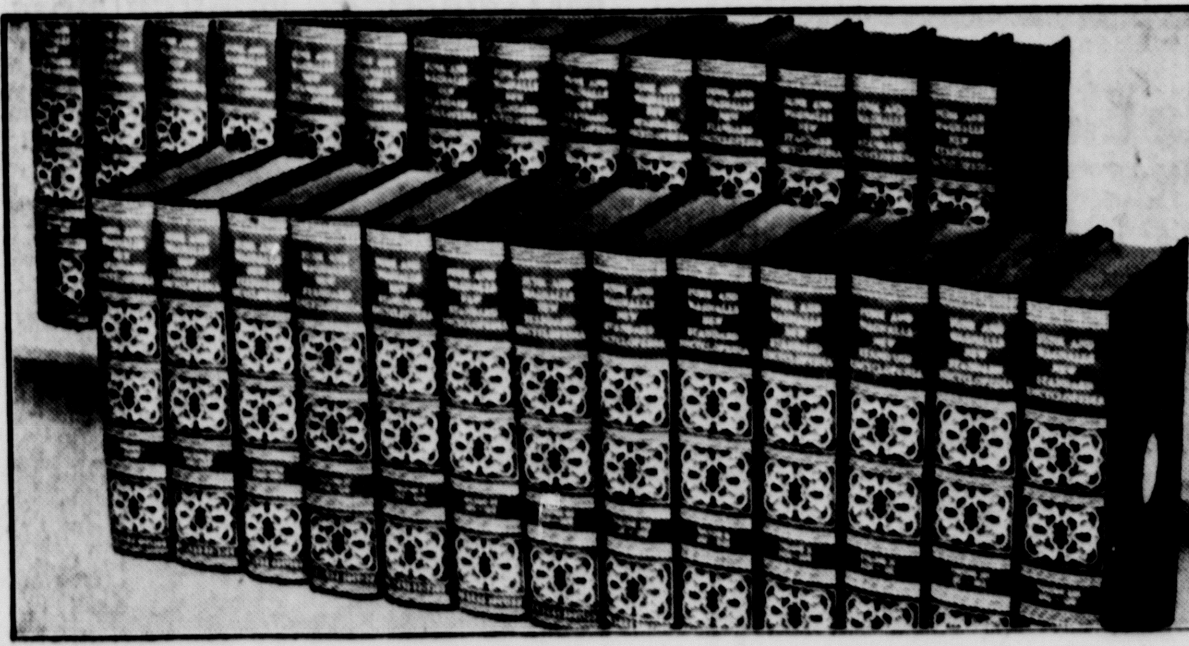

The Library Edition has all the above features, plus a more expensive binding. The covers of this superfine edition are in tan linen-weave cloth, with red and black title panels, decorated with genuine 22-carat gold leaf—making in all an extremely handsome and dignified set of books.

You have your choice of these editions in sending for your free Volume I. However, remember that if you later decide you want to complete your set, the other volumes will cost slightly more in the Library Edition (40c more per volume).

So don't hesitate in sending for your free Volume I. Only 200 copies have been allotted for the subscribers of the Bristol Courier, and when they are gone there will be no more. Requests for free volumes will be accepted in strict order of receipt, and this sensational offer expires at 12 o'clock midnight, Saturday, Nov. 19th.
